VILLAGE PEOPLE: BOB WIRZ PROFILE

A PASSION FOR BASEBALL

By Carol King

Bob Wirz's fascination with baseball began at the age of 8. Now, at age 80, his love of the game remains strong.

In his recently published book, "The Passion of Baseball," the North Trail resident recounts the journey to his front-row seat of the national pastime, which includes serving as the chief spokesman for Major League Baseball Commissioners Bowie Kuhn and Peter Ueberroth.

In his book, he shares a celebrity-filled story of fulfilling a childhood dream. "It is said that only six percent of adults end up in the careers they dreamt about as kids," he notes. "I have been truly blessed."

His expedition begins in Halsey, Neb., during the 1940s. "Halsey is in the Sandhills of the state and had a population of 140," he explains "As a child, a great source of entertainment for me was listening to baseball games on the radio, when static would allow. There was no television then. The radio broadcasts of these games were something that I immensely looked forward to."

He adds, "I fell in love with the sport in my early years and did everything I could to pursue my goal of having a career in Major League Baseball. I was intent on working in baseball... even if I had to sell peanuts or cotton candy to do it!"

There's so much about the sport to relish, he notes. "I can go to any ballgame in any town and enjoy myself," he says. "I can go to a game alone, with my wife, my kids or my grandkids. There's no need to pick a team to cheer on; a baseball game is always fun to watch. The players are so graceful; they each hit and pitch in their own different ways and – unlike football or basketball — all types can excel at this game. You don't need to be a particular size or have a certain physique to be competitive.

"Plus, baseball is played outdoors and in good weather," he says with a grin. "It's a great way to spend 2 to 3 hours!"

Bob's journey to a major league career got underway in 1959. Following his graduation from the University of Nebraska – Lincoln, he spent eight years working for newspapers and broadcasting companies. He held sports-writing positions with the Lincoln Journal and Wichita Eagle, and was the sports director at KHAS Radio in Hastings, Neb. He later moved to the television side of the station, taking on the role of sports director.

His first professional baseball position was as public relations director of the Denver Bears (Pacific Coast League) from 1967-68. From 1969 to 1874, he served as the first publicity director of the Kansas City Royals, joining the team in its inaugural year. He was Major League Baseball's director of information from 1974-85.

The decade he spent as the director of information was accompanied with unprecedented labor strife that included several strikes and lockouts. In his book, Wirz offers a unique look into an extremely pivotal time of baseball contracts that have forever shaped the game at its highest level.

Also, as the spokesman for the commissioner, he pioneered several changes in the operation of MLB, including more accuracy with old stats and better organization of the World Series, which had been independently planned out by host cities up to that point.

His tasks during the World Series included coordinating with the host teams to accommodate the requirements of about 600 journalists, all of whom needed work space and access to the headline-makers.

In 1985, Bob left the major leagues to operate Wirz

and Associates, a sports consulting and marketing firm.

However, baseball continues to be his beacon. He keeps a hand in the game by writing columns about independent teams and players on two websites, www.AmericanAssociationBaseball.com and [www.CanAm League.com](http://www.CanAm League.com).

Each year, before the season's official opening day, Bob makes a pilgrimage to Florida that coincides with spring training. "We stay in Venice, where six major league teams are all within an hour's drive," he says. "Baseball is all around me."

Who does he like in the upcoming season?

"The Yankees look good on paper and the Red Sox are always going to be a threat," he says. "But, who knows? There are 162 games in the season and anything can happen."

"I am an optimist," he concludes. "Every season is wonderful. The fun of it is to see how the teams come together and what new players will come in and who will blossom."

NOTICE:

OVRTD BOARD SEEKS CANDIDATES

The Oronoque Village Tax District is seeking candidates to fill the positions of director. The recommended slate will be voted on by residents at the Tax District Annual Meeting on May 22.

Those who are interested in serving on the OVRTD Board are encouraged to submit resumes to the Business Office to be reviewed by the OVRTD Nominating Committee.

The deadline for submitting resumes is March 30. If you would like to email your resume for consideration, please send it to Linda Arvers at larvers@oronoquevillage.com.

'CONSCIOUS AGING' CLASS TO RESUME NEXT MONTH

A new eight-week Conscious Aging course will begin on April 16. Classes meet weekly on Mondays (excluding Memorial Day) at NCB from 10-11:30 a.m. The cost is $80 with an additional $20 fee for a workbook. Registration is limited to 12 people.

According to the U.S. Administration on Aging, by 2030 there will be approximately 72 million people age 65 and older, more than double the number in 2000. Yet, in our youth-obsessed culture, some people are struck by anxiety and fear as they face the march of time.

During the course, students meet in friendly, conversational groups of three or four to discuss such topics as self-compassion, forgiveness and the importance of letting go.

A few of the goals of the course are to:

- Explore self-limiting beliefs and stereotypes to make more "conscious" choices on aging.
- Discover and reflect on what has given meaning to our lives and how that can be used to reduce isolation and understand our involvement with our shared humanity.
- Reduce fear and increase acceptance in the present of death and dying for both ourselves and our loved ones.

The class is facilitated by OV resident Peter Ulisse, a retired professor from Housatonic Community College. For more information or to register for the course, email peterulisse@yahoo.com or call 475-422-9630.

DROP-IN SCULPTURE CLASS

Drop-in sculpture classes, led by Wendy Swain, will resume at SCB on April 4. The sessions are offered on Wednesdays, 10 a.m. to noon, in the Arts & Crafts Room.

The cost is $10 per class. Bring photos of pictures of what you would like to sculpt and Wendy will guide you through the process.

Please contact Wendy in advance to let her know your intentions. The class size is limited to eight students.

Email wendysw10s@gmail.com or call 203-386-9125.

NEW MICROPHONE SYSTEMS AT NORTH AND SOUTH CLUBHOUSES

The new Shure Cordless Microphone systems that are now in use at the North and South Clubhouses have received very positive reviews.

The new microphones are lightweight and easy to carry, have superior sound quality and provide a dynamic range that carries across the lounge and auditorium areas.

Those who are hosting events at the clubhouses are welcome to use these microphones. Contact the Maintenance Department at 203-375-8853 to make a reservation.

CLUBHOUSE ROOM USE POLICIES

Use of Card Rooms: Oronoque Village residents are encouraged to make use of the card rooms in the two clubhouses. However, please note that card groups (such as card, bridge and Scrabble players) can reserve table space, but not the entire room. All other tables are available to be used by other groups.

However, since mahjongg can be a bit noisy, the House Committee suggests that a tablecloth be used to mute the sound of the tiles when other groups are in the room.

Use of Lounges: The South and North Clubhouse lounges are for everyone's pleasure. No card games can be reserved in the lounges. However, groups are welcome to play cards or games in the lounges with the understanding that multiple activities (including social gatherings) may be taking place at the same time.

Special activities or meetings may require the use of specific space. All requests must be handled through the Business Office.

MAINTENANCE MATTERS: MEET OUR CARPENTERS

During the warmer months, residents may see more of our carpentry staff as they respond to work order requests for glass installation on windows, sliders and doors as well as framing, trim and siding work.

Lonte Ramalho has been employed as a carpenter at Oronoque Village since 2007. He started out doing siding work as part of the preventive maintenance program. He later took on the additional tasks of a full-time carpenter.

He got his on-the-job training under the tutelage of his stepfather, who operated an independent contracting operation, and his uncle, who owned a power equipment rental business in Stratford.

Prior to joining OV, he was the environmental services manager for Healthcare Services Group, where he performed carpentry and maintenance work at nursing homes throughout Fairfield and New Haven Counties. Also, he has seven years of construction experience.

A native of Bridgeport, Lonte graduated from Bullard Haven Technical High School in 1992. He is married and the father of a 20-year-old son and a 17-year-old daughter.

Ryan Hankey, who joined the Maintenance staff in 2016, has had an interest in carpentry since he was 15.

"I always knew I wanted to work with my hands," he said. "When I was growing up I liked to build things, including speaker boxes and baseball bats."

He attended Emmett O'Brien Technical School in Ansonia during which time he worked as an apprentice, focusing on framing and remodeling. Since his graduation in 2000, Ryan has been gainfully employed. His resume includes working for a contracting firm that built Dunkin' Donuts franchises in Plainville, Orange, East Haven and Guilford.

He lives in Seymour with his wife and four-month-old son.

Chris LaConte, a graduate of Bunnell High School in Stratford, has worked at Oronoque Village for the last five years. While attending high school, he was active in his woodshop class where he developed an interest in carpentry.

At Oronoque Village, he began doing outdoor work, such as weed whacking and mowing during the summer months, and has now progressed to a full-time position as a carpenter.

He continues to pursue his education, taking classes at Housatonic Community College in Bridgeport.

ARTIST OF THE MONTH: JOE HAYDUCKY

By Marcia Hayducky ~ Photo by Carol King

For Joe Hayducky, the artist of the month, life has always been about creativity — whether he is painting a picture, making furniture or decorating his home.

Retirement has given him the opportunity to pursue his interests in a variety of artistic arenas. He draws and paints in several mediums and likes to paint with oils on both canvas and hardboard. Also, he enjoys using watercolors. Recently, he began sketching in oil crayons and likes the results.

Serious painting, however, began while he was recuperating from back surgery. He taught himself to paint by studying the works of the Masters and by watching others paint. He picked up ideas and practiced skills while watching “The Joy of Painting” show on television, which featured Bob Ross.

Joe often creates social situations that center on painting. He gets together with like-minded friends; while each person works on their own creation, they discuss ideas and techniques. Often within the group, paintings are started and completed in one or two sessions.

Joe grew up in Bridgeport and has lived most of his life in Stratford. After graduating from Harding High School without a firm career goal, he studied architectural drafting as well as earned licenses in insurance sales and real estate brokering. He became self-employed in all of these areas.

He later joined the army and attended finance school at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indiana. Upon his discharge, he joined the staff of Stop & Shop Supermarkets Company, where he worked for 36 years and held several management positions in Fairfield and New Haven Counties.

Never one to be idle, while employed by Stop & Shop, Joe continued his studies, focusing on business law and business management at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y.

Joe moved to Oronoque Village in 2007. He enjoys all the people and activities that occur here and is involved in events presented by Weekenders, Funseekers and the Art Guild. OV

ARTS GUILD RECAP: “MY ARCHITECT”

“This was your father’s biggest trouble, he was a child. He could not say ‘no’ to anyone, he loved everyone. To love everybody sometimes means we do not see the ‘closest ones”

--- Shamsul Wares, architect, Dhaka, Bangladesh

These were the final words to Nathaniel Kahn about his late father, the architect Louis Kahn, in the film “My Architect.” The personal story of the famed former chairman of the Yale School of Architecture included the tale of a man who sired three children with three different women, but knew none of his children very well ... nor they him.

The Oronoque Village Arts Guild was proud to show this Academy Award-nominated, free presentation in the South Clubhouse on what might otherwise have been a dreary Friday night. Though it was cold and wet outside, it was a warm and a hugely enjoyable evening inside! Snuggled in the lounge on comfortable easy chairs and sofas, the room was filled with neighbors ... and everyone loved the movie.

Nathaniel’s search for meaning in his father’s life and his understanding of Louis Kahn’s groundbreaking architectural contributions to countries across the planet, while ignoring his own offspring, was rife with emotional and intellectual insights.

Jeffrey Sells, an Oronoque resident and retired architect whose own work has been recognized by the American Institute of Architects, introduced the film. Barbara Stewart, vice president of the Oronoque Village Arts Guild, introduced Jeff, and Ray Vermette, president of the Guild, concluded the presentation with a wonderful summation of the movie.

Watch for the next in installment in what we hope will become a series of unusual cinema about the life, art and character of our most famous artists and performers. Details about upcoming events will be published in The Villager.

All residents are invited to join the Guild. For information, contact Barbara Stewart at barbsmt@yahoo.com or 203-612-1373. OV

BEYOND THE VILLAGE

Alec Baldwin and Kelli O'Hara will star in Westport Country Playhouse's Spring Gala performance of A. R. Gurney's play, "Love Letters," on Thursday, April 12, at 7 p.m. The one-night-only, $250-per-ticket fundraising event will honor the memory of playwright A. R.

"Pete" Gurney, who was a consistent contributor to the Playhouse stage, with 21 works produced there from 1980 through 2016. Gurney died last June at age 86.

This theater piece is comprised of letters exchanged over a lifetime between two people who grew up together, went their separate ways, but continued to share confidences. Their letters tell how much they really meant to each other over the years—physically apart, perhaps, but spiritually close. As the actors read the letters aloud, they create an evocative, touching, frequently funny but always telling pair of character studies in which what is implied is as revealing and meaningful as what is actually written down. The play was a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize for drama.

Baldwin has appeared in numerous productions on stage, in films, and on television. He has received a Tony nomination ("A Streetcar Named Desire," 1992), an Oscar nomination ("The Cooler," 2004), and has won three Emmy Awards, three Golden Globes, and seven consecutive Screen Actors Guild Awards as Best Actor in a Comedy Series for his role on NBC-TV's "30 Rock."

O'Hara's portrayal of Anna Leonowens in the Broadway revival of "The King and I" garnered her the 2015 Tony Award for Best Leading Actress in a Musical, along with Drama League and Outer Critics Circle nominations. Additional Broadway credits include "The Bridges of Madison County" (Tony, Drama Desk, Drama League, OCC nominations), "Nice Work If You Can Get It" (Tony, Drama Desk, Drama League, OCC nominations), "South Pacific" (Tony, Drama Desk, OCC nominations), "The Pajama Game" (Tony, Drama Desk, OCC nominations), "The Light in the Piazza" (Tony, Drama Desk nominations), "Sweet Smell of Success," "Follies," "Dracula," and "Jekyll & Hyde."

For information and tickets, call 203-227-4177 or visit www.westportplayhouse.org.

The Square One Theatre Company in Stratford continues its 28th anniversary season with the Connecticut premiere of Bruce Graham's "White Guy on the Bus," through March 18.

On a city bus, Shatique, a struggling African-American nurse and single mom, meets Ray, a 50-something white man who makes a point of always sitting next to her and inquiring about her family and her hopes for the future. After learning that he has a Mercedes, she wonders (just as the audience does) why he even rides "this damn bus" so often. The answer is part of what makes Graham's complex so very intriguing. Things take an unexpected and sinister turn when he shows up on her tenement doorstep with a dangerous proposal. When key plot points are revealed, every cynical retort, frustration-fueled rant and defensive comeback relates to the story's twists and turns.

For tickets and information, call 203-375-8778 or visit <https://www.squareonetheatre.com>

The Milford Library presents "Three-Season Garden Planning" on Wednesday, March 21, at 6:30 p.m.

Rachel Ziesk will discuss how planning your garden wisely will help you have a very productive season, no matter the size of your garden space. By learning what to plant early, midseason and late season, you can maximize the output and minimize the headache of what to plant next. This is the first of three informative spring gardening lectures. All will receive two garden planners and a special book prize will be given to one lucky attendee.

Reservations are required. Call 203-783-3292.

FUNSEEKERS RECAP

Roberta DeCore stated, "There is nothing more rewarding than making new friends and greeting old friends through music."

"The Concert Which Never Happened" finally occurred during the Funseekers' February meeting.

Roberta's selections were "Songs of Love" – aptly titled, since her performance was in the proximity of Valentine's Day. Her opening number was "Crazy," made popular by Patsy Kline. Roberta included numbers from the Mamas and the Papas, Elvis Presley ("The Wonder of You"), Frank Sinatra ("The Way You Look Tonight), Bette Midler ("The Rose") and Lionel Richie ("Say You, Say Me"). These songs were familiar to everyone in attendance.

Bob Krakovich's first solo was "Love" – with Bob using hand gestures to spell out "L-O-V-E" as the audience sang along. He also sang Dean Martin's "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm." Roberta and Bob delightfully harmonized to "You Don't Bring Me Flowers," which was a crowd pleaser.

Roberta is an Oronoque resident who moved here to be closer to family. She has performed at private venues, including restaurants, theaters and senior facilities. Prior to the February concert, Roberta's most recent performance was in Vero Beach, Fla., at a dinner theater where she worked alongside many past Broadway performers.

The book for April 4 is A Gentleman in Moscow by Amorv Towles.

Gentleman in Moscow immerses us in another elegantly drawn era with the story of Count Alexander Rostov. When, in 1922, he is deemed an unrepentant aristocrat by a Bolshevik tribunal, the count is sentenced to house arrest in the Metropol, a grand hotel across the street from Kremlin.

Brimming with humor, a glittering cast of characters, and one beautifully rendered scene after another, this singular novel casts a spell as it relates the count's endeavor to gain a deeper understanding of what it means to be a man of purpose.

The book for May is Bridal Chair by Gloria Goldreich.
