A MESSAGE FROM THE OVCA PRESIDENT

This column originally was distributed to residents as an Eblast on Friday, August 23, 2019.

August 20, 2019
By Bob Grosso

By-Laws Revisions/Compliance: The proposed Compliance Process was discussed during our OVCA board meeting. The board unanimously voted to pass the new process. It covers all aspects of compliance, beginning with notification of a violation, hearings, the appeal process and a schedule of fines. The goal of this process is for the Association to have a clearly defined procedure for handling situations where the By-Laws or Rules and Regulations are not being followed. Residents will be receiving a copy of the new Compliance Process shortly.

Please direct all questions regarding The Villager to Editor Carol King. Resident submissions of 500 words or less are welcome and will be considered for publication. Articles will be published as space allows. Submissions pertaining to OVCA-, OVTD- and resident-related matters are given priority. Villager articles are edited to conform to the standards of the Associated Press Stylebook.

The Board approved naming the following residents to the Compliance Committee: Kees Adema. Joanne Arlia, Arnold Gans, Patricia Meyers and Bob Romatzick.

Insurance: OV's 2018/2019 fiscal year was very encouraging. We have all been contributors in this process. Our staff has been diligently working with our insurance carriers, conducting inspections and we have been implementing recommendations. Villager awareness and participation have been raised and, to date, the results have been very good over the past 13 months.

The chart on the opposite page summarizes OV's Property, Liability and overall Package Loss Ratio (Amount Incurred/Premium) for each component.

50th Anniversary Gala Committee: As I mentioned at our previous OVCA board meeting, I established an ad hoc 50th Anniversary Gala Committee. The committee's task is to plan and execute a celebration to honor this momentous occasion. I thank them for their willingness to take on the work of such an important event.

Best Practices - Program Maintenance of our buildings (Replacement of wood siding as needed, outside painting and staining): Our Executive Director and Director of Maintenance Operations worked with Falcon Engineering and developed a detailed Request for Quotes from all interested suppliers. Bids for paint and stain were submitted separately from qualified companies.

Fred and Mark summarized the encouraging results that were then presented to me, OVCA Treasurer Bob Romatzick, Architectural Committee Chairperson Jim Manzolli and Maintenance Committee Chairperson Ken Block.

Rules and Regulations Revisions: After sending them out to the residents for review and comment, the board unanimously adopted the proposed revisions to the Rules and Regulations.

OV Golf Tournament: The weather was beautiful and another very successful tournament took place. Many thanks for the exceptional work of the Golf Tournament Committee.

AUDIENCE FAVORITES RETURN FOR PLETMAN CONCERTS FALL SERIES

By Elisabeth Breslav

Here is the schedule of the fall Pletman Concerts series, which are held at NCB.

Sunday, Sept. 22, at 3 p.m.: Everyone's sweetheart, pianist Chelsea Guo, will return for her fourth appearance in Oronoque in an all-Chopin program. During the last few years, this musical "wunderkind" has added the study of voice to her intense educational program. We will have the rare treat of hearing her play three works for piano (Chopin's "Waltz No. 18," his "Etude Op.10 No. 12 – Op.25 No. 6," and "Preludes Op.28") followed by her soprano solo rendition of two Chopin art songs.

OV 'IN TRIBUTE' BOOK

The library at NCB houses more than novels, biographies, puzzles and paperbacks. It is the location of the stately Oronoque Village "In Tribute" book, which sits on a pedestal against the far right wall. The book has a solemn purpose: it recognizes treasured residents who have passed away.

Inclusion in the "In Tribute" book requires a contribution of $250 or more to Oronoque Village. Contributors are allowed one page in the book to include photos and/or text honoring their deceased loved ones. Those who are recognized in the book also are included in a virtual honor roll on the Oronoque Village website (www.oronoquevillage.com).

For more information on the "In Tribute" book, please call the Business Office at 203-377-5313, ext. 3.

Sunday, Oct. 27 at 4.p.m.(please note change in usual concert time): A program called "All that Jazz" by pianist Roger Young, who gave several performances at Oronoque during the first decade of the century. He has appeared on NBC's Today Show and at the Rainbow Room, Waldorf Astoria and the Blue Note. The Greenwich Times declared that "Young has mastered the 'stride piano' jazz style made famous by Fats Waller."

Sunday, Nov. 24 at 3 p.m.: This is the third appearance of the Half Mile Common Piano Trio, which will present a program titled "A Kaleidoscope of European Music."

According to violinist Bernice Friedson it is a sort of musical tour, and will include music by Vivaldi (Italy), Beethoven (Germany), Faure (France), Glinka (Russia), Bartok (Hungary), Dvorak (Czech Republic), and a few more (still to be decided).

Admission to the Pletman Concerts is $5 at the door. No reservations are required, and guests of residents are cordially invited. All concerts are followed by a reception during which residents have a chance to meet with the musicians.

RECAP: 15TH ANNUAL OV GOLF TOURNAMENT WAS A SUCCESS

Story by Betty Mulholland ~ Photos by Peter Feick

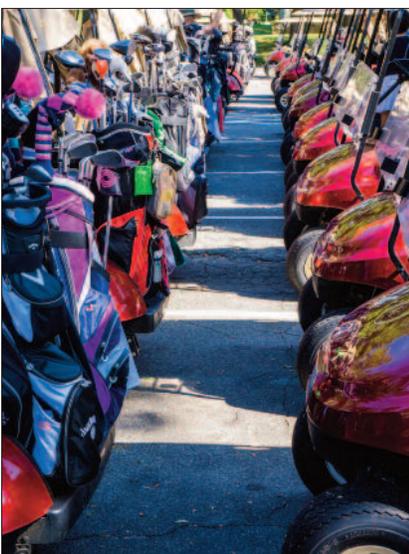

The “weather gods” were certainly smiling down on all the happy golfers on Monday, Aug. 12, for the 15th annual OV Golf Tournament. After last year’s terrible weather rainout, the golfers had a spectacular day, with low humidity and a gentle breeze.

As the golfers arrived and dropped off their bags, they then proceeded to sign in, get their “swag” bags, buy raffle tickets and head in for breakfast.

Almost all the golfers participated in the putting contest that was won by Kyle Petriello.

Golfers were called to their carts at 11 a.m. and, after brief instructions, they were on their way. The play went smoothly and everyone gathered for happy hour around 4:30 p.m.

Judy Waldeyer, who has been successfully running this event for about the last 10 years, once again put together a wonderful day. She thanked the OV staff and especially her committee of staunch volunteers: Marcia Klein, Bob Koritko, Camille Manzolli, Dee Tuozzoli and Dee Varholak. These people work together like a well-oiled machine to make the day run so smoothly.

On tourney day, a band of happy volunteers get their assignments and man their posts to make sure all things go well.

As everyone enjoyed a fine dinner, Judy announced the winners of the day. JoAnne Sutphen and Bruce Blanchard won for closest to the line. Closest to the pin winners were Bob Cantor and Nancy Antonioni. Mim Schreck and Tad Ackerman won for longest drive. Jim Schlenk won the raffle on the 7th hole.

The foursome that had low gross score was Richard Pacelli, Jack O’Connell, Rocco Pacelli and Rick Malafronte. This foursome plays well together and have been here before.

The foursome of Bruce Blanchard, Steve Lewis, Chris Soule and Tad Ackerman won first modified Callaway. They, too, have been past winners.

Finally, second low gross group was Karen Kiely, Jim Schlenk, Mim Schreck and Lexanne Kroll.

After the winners collected their trophies, the raffle prizes were given out. As always, the raffle prizes were wonderful and had many eager hopefuls.

This year, there was a silent auction for a print of the tenth hole. Phil Ludwig took that prize home with him.

This event, over the years, has raised more than $60,000 for various charities. This year, The Center for Family Justice and Friends of Boothe Park will receive donations from the tournament. Some funds will also go to Oronoque Village for beautification and to Dollcrafters to support their continued works on behalf of children in distress. A special shout out to Carolyn Novotny for circulating during the day and getting more donations for Dollcrafters. As people were leaving, Judy reminded everyone to get ready for the Aug.10, 2020 tournament. This event is one of the most popular events of the Village. Every year, the golfers go home with smiles on their faces, looking forward to the next one. OV

ARTIST OF THE MONTH: BEN SNAIDER

Ben Snaider is the Artist of the Month for September. His work is on display at NCB.

He first picked up a paintbrush in 1963 during a stint in the army. "I was stationed in Germany where I served in the Judge Advocate General's Corps (JAG)," he explains. "I tried court-martial cases and traveled to many exotic places. I wanted to capture their essence on canvas."

During his time overseas, Ben traveled throughout Europe. He was inspired by the ancient architecture and beautiful landscapes of Italy and especially the mountains. He recalls that "Paris -- with its boulevards, side streets, flea market and especially the Louvre -- was a favorite place to visit."

Ben continues to enjoy painting as a hobby. "I sketch out the scenes that I see and then I paint them in either watercolors or oils, but mostly in oils" he says. "I like to work in bold, vibrant colors."

His passion is painting landscapes, such as mountains and deserts. "I love working with a palette knife and I am enthralled with the beauty of the Southwest," he states. "I particularly like the red rocks and the mountain views of Sedona, Ariz."

Although he has been painting for more than five decades, Ben has never taken an art course. "I enjoy reading about painting techniques and I am an avid museum and gallery patron. I travel to exhibitions in New York and I regularly visit the Yale Art Gallery and British Center for the Arts. I find myself inspired by the works on display."

He adds, "The Yale galleries are a constantly renewing source of inspiration and wonderfully close by."

Before retiring, Ben practiced law in New Haven, specializing in condemnation law. He and his wife, Marsha, moved to Oronoque Village about six years ago. "We visited this community and saw it as a good fit," Ben says. "I love playing tennis and have enjoyed getting involved in the community."

Ben is the current president of the Oronoque Village Tennis Club.

EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH: LONTE RAMALHO

Lonte Ramalho has been named Employee of the Month. He has been employed as a carpenter at Oronoque Village since 2007.

He joined the Maintenance staff in 2007 doing siding work as part of the preventive maintenance program. He later took on the additional tasks of a full-time carpenter. He got his on-the-job training under the tutelage of his stepfather, who operated an independent contracting operation, and his uncle, who owned a power tool and party supply rental company.

Prior to joining OV, he was the environmental services manager for Healthcare Services Group, where he performed carpentry and maintenance work at nursing homes throughout Fairfield and New Haven Counties.

A native of Bridgeport, Lonte graduated from Bullard Haven Technical High School in 1992. He is married and the father of a 21-year-old son and an 18-year-old daughter.

The Employee of the Month program was launched by Director of Maintenance Operations Mark Rhatigan.

Maintenance Department staff members vote on the co-worker whom they feel should get the title of Employee of the Month.

As part of the recognition, the winner receives a gift card as well as temporary possession of the Oronoque Village Employee of the Month Trophy Belt.

FITNESS FOR OLDER ADULTS

5 WATER EXERCISES FOR SENIORS

By Ed Genga, MA, CSCS

Arthritis and joint pain can make working out the last thing seniors want to do. However, water exercises can relieve arthritis and joint pain while increasing bone density and muscle mass.

Staying active as a senior can be tough. Achy joints that don't work as well as they used to make it hard to go for a walk or incorporate strength exercises into a daily routine.

However, exercising in the water puts less stress on the joints and the buoyancy of the water helps reduce the pressure on joints. Water also acts as a form of resistance, so strength exercises can be performed in the water without heavy weights. Performing strength exercises and using resistance will increase flexibility and balance and decrease bone and muscle loss.

Here are five water exercises that you can try to start feeling better! I suggest giving the following exercises a try, but keep these safety tips in mind: be aware of your limits, never do water aerobics alone (it's not as fun, anyway), and speak with your doctor about how your medications and overall fitness mesh with water aerobics.

1. Aqua Jogging: Aqua jogging is the perfect aerobic, low-impact exercise to get the heart pumping and blood flowing throughout the body. Aqua jogging can be as simple as jogging through the water from one side of the pool to the other. If you have chronic back pain, this exercise can be simplified to static walking or jogging or marching in place. Aqua jogging is designed to get the heart rate up and keep it up, so whichever modification you choose, be sure it's a little challenging.

2. Flutter Kicking: Flutter kicking is another great low-impact cardio exercise. This exercise can be performed with or without a kickboard. To flutter kick without a kickboard, if one is not available, perform a front float with your head above water while holding onto the side of the pool and flutter kick your legs. Whichever way you do it, kick at a steady tempo that doesn't tire you too quickly but still gets your heart pumping.

3. Leg Lifts: Using the resistance of the water, leg lifts work all of the muscles in the legs. For this exercise, stand in the pool and lift one leg out to the side and back down. Repeat until your leg feels tired, then switch legs and perform the exercise on the other leg. Not only does this exercise work the legs, it also improves balance and strengthens your core.

4. Standing Water Push-ups: Water push-ups are a great way to build arm, chest, and shoulder strength without putting too much pressure on the joints. Stand along the side of the pool and place your hands a little wider than shoulder-width apart on the gutter or edge of the pool. Keeping your body straight bend your arms and lean in toward the wall, then push yourself back out. Repeat this exercise slowly and until your arms feel tired. Be careful not to push it too hard until you know your limits.

5. Arm Curls: For this exercise, stand in the middle of the pool with water weights. Water weights don't have to be used, but they do offer extra resistance. Hold the weights in front of you, arms in front with palms facing out. Curl the weights up then back down and repeat until fatigue. This exercise can also be done with palms facing toward you instead of away with the same curling motion.

Exercising may not be at the top of your to-do list because of achy joints, arthritis and other health problems that develop with age. However, water aerobic exercises offer a great alternative to traditional exercise at a gym. Perform the above exercises at least three times a week to experience greater flexibility, bone density and cardiovascular function—plus relief from joint and arthritis pain!

TRAVEL ESSAY: DISCOVER LAKE GEORGE

By Elisabeth Breslav ~ Photos by Claudia Breslav Nielsen

Lake George, called “the glistening jewel in the treasure chest that is the Adirondacks” by Boston preacher William H.H. Murray in 1868, today is often referred to as the Queen of American Lakes. It’s a deserved distinction, not only because of the gorgeous scenery and its historical significance, but also because of the purity of the water.

In addition to traditional waste water treatment plants that render the lake water potable for the communities along its bank, a process called “bioretention” uses specially designed filters to catch storm run-off, sand, sediment, chemicals and road salt that soak into deep pockets of special soil. The soil acts like a sponge and native plants are used to soak up the water with their deep roots, preventing it from entering the lake. There are “boat wash” stations throughout the area, and boat owners as well as tourists on sightseeing crafts are provided with instructions on how to protect the water quality.

The lake offers the usual shore activities, from sunbathing to swimming, canoeing, tubing, waterskiing and parasailing. Paddleboat excursions are very popular and, of course, a sunset cruise is not to be missed. Evening concerts and street musicians provide free entertainment to the many after-dinner strollers.

History buffs will enjoy a visit to the Fort William Henry Museum in Lake George Village. The original fort was built in 1755 by the British and destroyed two years later by the French during the French and Indian War, a bitter conflict for control of North America. It was reconstructed in 1955 based on the original British plans and sits almost directly on top of the old fort. Military demonstrations by uniformed guides are held several times daily and soldiers’ barracks and their trade shops can be visited. The museum building holds artifacts that date to the prehistoric occupation of the Lake George area and the time of the 18th century war. They were discovered during archeological excavations between 1953 and 2011.

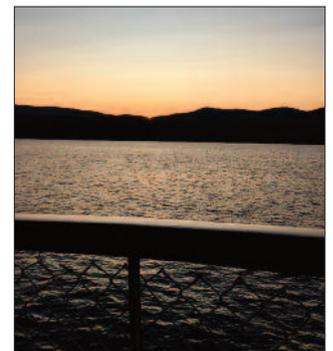

Art lovers are in for an unexpected and delightful treat when visiting The Hyde Collection, a jewel of an art museum in Glens Falls, reminiscent of the Isabel Gardner Museum in Boston. The Hyde House was completed in 1912 in the style of a Florentine Renaissance palazzo and was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1984. Its art collection is a product of the golden age of the private art collector (c. 1890 to 1940).

Founded by Louis and Charlotte Hyde, the collection contains historic furniture, books, paintings, sculptures and pottery. Now expanded with several modern additions, the museum, while relatively small and “off the beaten track,” contains an impressive and broad collection encompassing Italian Renaissance and 18th-century French antiques, and works by many of the great European masters including Rembrandt, Rubens, Renoir, Cezanne, Matisse and van Gogh to name just a few. American artists represented are Eakins, Childe Hassam, Winslow Homer and Whistler among others. In addition to its permanent collection, the museum showcases important temporary exhibits from all over Europe and the United States. Mrs. Hyde established a trust in 1952 that dedicated her home and her extensive art collection to the community. Three months after she died in 1963, the Hyde Collection opened to the general public.

Rock hounds and geology enthusiasts will want to put a visit to Saratoga Springs at the top of their itinerary. While the taste of the water from the various springs is disappointing, their history is fascinating, going back to the Ice Age when the area was covered by Lake Albany. Over time, the water drained away and the surface became dry land. But the mineral waters are found deep down in a natural reservoir in the dolomite layers of the earth’s crust, traveling through channels on different levels. Where a channel reaches a fault line that connects with the surface, the carbon dioxide gas in the water forces it to spout into the air at a temperature of 50 degrees Fahrenheit, regardless of a local heat wave or blizzard. Wherever the mineral springs were found, Mother Nature cleverly arranged for a layer of shale to form over the rock. Because it is impervious to water, the shale prevents the spring water from coming to the surface except along the fault lines and at the same time prevents surface water to reach and mix with the mineral springs. The Saratoga Spring Waters gave rise to numerous spas and strictly controlled bottling plants.

What about the Saratoga world-famous Race Course, its Performing Arts Center – summer home of the New York City Ballet and the Philadelphia Orchestra? Or the National Museum of Dance and the Saratoga Auto Museum? These and a number of other fascinating venues around Lake George definitely call for second visit.

OV WINE CLUB TOUR OF PORTUGAL

In the 1942 classic film "Casablanca," Ilsa Lund flies off with her husband, Victor Laszlo, to Lisbon, Portugal. There they will book passage to America to continue the fight against the Nazis. But upon arrival in Lisbon, their ship wasn't to sail for two weeks. With rare time on their hands, the couple borrowed a car and made a tour of Portugal's wine country. Many years later their daughter found Ilsa's diary which chronicled that tour, and it was published in 2008. That diary was the inspiration for our tour of Portugal's wine country. Here is our story:

On the evening of Aug. 16, the OV Wine Club assembled again at NCB. With the usual suspects and our trusty wine guide, Len Gulino, leading the way, we greeted our guests with Ilsa's and Victor's favorite Portuguese cocktail, the portonico. It is a blend of port wine and tonic water. In the diary Ilsa wrote "Victor and I would spend late afternoons at a Lisbon waterfront cafe sipping a portonico. We were at last happy, but ever mindful of the war that had to be won."

Refreshed by that aperitif, and with letters of transit in hand, we followed Ilsa's and Victor's route, which took us first to the Beyra interior region bordering Spain, followed by a northern drive to the Vinho Verde region of Portugal. Ilsa was partial to the whites of Beyra, as were we. They were clear, fresh and delicate. Victor preferred the whites of Vinho Verde mainly because he'd sampled them first in the Portuguese colony of Macau near Hong Kong. We can see why they lingered on his palate as it tasted of new green grapes with a fruity scent, perfect for lunch on a warm summer's day.

In Ilsa's diary, she mentioned how she and Victor spent idyllic roadside lunches with a simple fare of the local cheese, bread and a bottle of Herdade Reserva, a white wine from the southern Alentejo region of Portugal. We sampled that wine and replicated the couple's picnics with our own spread of cheese assortments, fruit and meat.

Northeast of Lisbon lie the regions Bairrada and Douro. Ilsa and Victor also visited these regions during their wartime tour. They are noted for their reds, but little was mentioned about them in the diary. That is unusual because the Quinta Do Encontro and the Mura Reserva are great reds, being dark and audacious. (Rick was partial to such wines as well.) Nothing is mentioned of Rick in the diary. But for Ilsa, Rick was always with her, no matter the place or the time. He was never mentioned, but never forgotten, for Rick was an eternal love never diminished. And time went by.

The tour ended with a Jose Maria da Fonesca Periquita Reserva red. It is from a region just south of Lisbon. Ilsa noted in her diary that it was a "bold Hemingwayesque type of wine ... solid and true." We believed her as it was a type of wine which muscled its way to your palate.

In early January 1943, Ilsa and Victor boarded the USS Eagle en route to New York. They survived the war, had a family and celebrated over 50 years of wedded bliss. We thank them for inspiring us to conduct this tour.

As always, we ended our OV Wine Club event with Dorothy Tanski's cookies. And, we sipped a smooth and wonderful Taylor Fladgate Port Wine as our dessert wine. Here's looking at you kid.

KEEPING UP WITH THE FUNSEEKERS

Johnny Paolillo, guitarist/vocalist, was featured at the August 2019 Funseekers meeting. He is very popular with The Funseekers.

Johnny sounds like he has a four- to five-piece band accompanying him by using backing tracks. His opening number was "The Wanderer." "Home Town Girl" brought our favorite dancing duo to the floor, Jim and Carol Ruddy, immediately followed by Carole and Charlie Di-Giovanni. Johnny meandered through the tables as he sang, "How Sweet It Is."

As Johnny sauntered around the guests, vocalizing to "Falling In Love With You," he twirled Karen Zimmerman and Cathy Wu for a spin or two. He had the crowd singing with gusto as he sang the summer tune, "Under the Boardwalk." The walls of the South Clubhouse vibrated throughout the evening.

His finale was a tribute to the veterans, "Proud To Be An American." Rich Botta, of Hammerstone Lane, appeared on stage, grasped the flag, saluted and waved it as everyone joined in singing. It was a fun night.

The table theme was tropical and we thank Joanne Maloney and Linda Eastwood for their creative collaborations each month decorating the tables. Delicious desserts and socializing followed the program.

Hoping to be left alone, she meets Sheryl, a fun-loving neighbor who insists that they become best pals. After coming out of her shell, Martha and her new friend decide to form a cheerleading squad with their fellow residents. As the two women hold auditions, they soon learn that it's never too late to follow your dreams, even when the odds are stacked against you.
