A MESSAGE FROM THE OVCA PRESIDENT

MAY 18, 2021

By Lee Schlafer

There has been a definite hum of positiveness in the air throughout the Village as we embrace the reopening of this community. It seems that almost by the day more encouraging news is received as we inch our way back to normality. Moving forward through this transition, from a mostly solitary existence to one that is social and interactive, I want to encourage everyone to be patient and understanding. We have in this Village somewhere between 1,300 and 1,500 people and there will be differences in the comfort level people have adapting to the changes that are developing. We all need to be respectful of those differences. With time and a continued decrease in the occurrence of the virus, I hope we will all find a comfortable “normal,” something I doubt we will ever take for granted again.

ing forward through this transition, from a mostly solitary existence to one that is social and interactive, I want to encourage everyone to be patient and understanding. We have in this Village somewhere between 1,300 and 1,500 people and there will be differences in the comfort level people have adapting to the changes that are developing. We all need to be respectful of those differences. With time and a continued decrease in the occurrence of the virus, I hope we will all find a comfortable “normal,” something I doubt we will ever take for granted again.

I would like to recognize the efforts of the Maintenance staff getting our facilities up and running so well. Peter Feick intends to speak about this in his report, but I also wanted to acknowledge what has been accomplished under what, I know, are difficult circumstances. I also want to share a phone call I received from a resident, who I don't think will mind being mentioned. Stephanie Fians took the time to contact me because she wanted to be sure I was aware of how hard Maintenance staff worked at the Annual Spring Cleanup last Saturday.

There was an impressive turnout for this event and four filled-to-the-brim, huge dumpsters in the South parking lot are proof of that. Filling those dumpsters was an enormous effort and it could not have been accomplished or run as smoothly without the support of our Maintenance crew.

There was also a great turnout for the shredder, with cars lined up on North Trail to await their turn to unload pounds of paper. With the help of Maintenance and the shredding company personnel, the process was simple and successful. So to all of Maintenance, thank you very much.

There are a couple of issues on the minds of many residents that I want to take a moment to address. First, as we open our facilities, the subject of guests is of growing interest. At this time, everything that has or will be opening is for residents only. It is understood that many residents would like to be able to share our amenities with family members or friends, that is part of the enjoyment we get from living here. My understanding is that most other associations are following the same practice that we have adopted, that is, no guests. As we gain experience operating in this not-quite-normal environment, this issue will be evaluated. There can be no commitments at this time, it would be premature, but there is a commitment to give the issue consideration, week by week, as CDC and State of Connecticut rules are changed and we have more experience with our own processes.

The second topic is, of course, Oronoque Country Club. Fred has been the lead person on this matter so he will offer some comments during his remarks. I simply want to say that it is understood that this subject is on the minds of many residents. We live in a culture of rumors and there is no shortage of them on this topic. I will provide a few facts. Oronoque Village has not purchased the club. The general manager, Tommy Miller, is leaving the club as of this week. There are discussions going on between Fred and the owners of the club about its future. And, to reiterate what I said at the last meeting, no decisions on the club involving Oronoque Village can take place without a voting process by residents.

The Budget Meeting/ Presentation for the OVCA 2021-2022 budget will be held on May 27, 2021 at 9 a.m. in the North Clubhouse. It is an in-person meeting. The budget rejection vote is scheduled for Thursday, June 3, 2021.

The Standing Committee Reports, which are posted on the OV website, provide information on the activities and projects of the Communications, House, Maintenance, Pool, Racquet Sports and Social Activities organizations.

Cheryl Dwyer reported that plans for the 50th Anniversary Gala in September are proceeding. The July 1 issue of The Villager will have complete details. Prior to that, SAC is hosting a kick-off cocktail party on June 12. The current Villager has details of that event.

The board voted on two motions at the May meeting. The first was to allow the use of ball machines by the tennis and pickleball players provided the players supply their own balls, hand-sanitize before and after using the machines and allow only two people at a time to use the equipment. The machines will be sanitized between use.

The second motion was to provide a credit of $30 to the first 80 people who provide the Business Office with proof of a gym membership, total cost not to exceed $2,400.

UPCOMING DISTRICT MEETINGS

District 3 is meeting at the South Clubhouse on Wednesday, June 23, at 7 p.m.

District 4 will hold an in-person Summer Neighborhood Gathering at the South Clubhouse on Wednesday, June 30, at 6 p.m. District Rep Bob Krakovich will welcome attendees, followed by summary reports from the Secretary, Treasurer, SAC Reps and Maintenance Rep who will also answer questions on Maintenance-related issues.

A guest speaker will then give a half-hour talk on the history of a local landmark. Following this, a meal will be provided by our SAC reps. Look for a sign-up flyer on June 7.

This motion was recommend by the House Sub-Committee on the reopening of the gym. The committee determined that costs necessary to keep the gym sanitized and the limited amount of space and equipment that would be available for use did not justify opening the gym at this time. To compensate for its continued closure, the $30 stipend is being offered. The reopening of the gym will continue to be reviewed as protocols change.

Finally, as we approach this Memorial Day weekend, many Villagers are excited at the prospect of having our pools open. In our eagerness to return to what we enjoy, it's important not to lose sight of why this day is so important. This is the time for us to remember and acknowledge the service and sacrifice of multitudes of men and women who have taken on the responsibility of protecting and defending this country and lost their lives to keep us safe and free. This day was created so we will never forget what a hero is, and as this quote from an unknown source so eloquently states, "Our flag does not fly because the wind moves it. It flies with the last breath of each soldier who died protecting it."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

QUILTING GROUP TO MEET

Village Quilters will meet the first and third Thursdays of each month from 10 a.m. to noon in the card room at NCB.

WATER AEROBICS CLASSES

Water aerobic classes are expected to begin at the end of June. Details will be announced soon.

OV LIBRARY OPENS JUNE 1

The Oronoque Village Library will be available to residents starting June 1 when the North Clubhouse opens at 8 a.m.

Please follow these procedures:

Books returned in the drop-off box should not be removed from the box until they are sanitized and shelved.

Books donated should not be more than 10 years old.

Books published before 2011 can be donated to Goodwill.

Please return borrowed books as soon as possible so others can enjoy them.

OV BOOK CLUB SCHEDULE

The Book Club will meet via GoToMeeting on June 2 at 2 p.m. to discuss The Miniaturist by Jesse Burton.

On Wednesday, July 7, the group will discuss "The Giver of Stars" by JoJo Moyes.

Based on a true story rooted in America's past, "The Giver of Stars" is described by group organizers as "unparalleled in its scope and epic in its storytelling. Funny, heart-breaking, enthralling, it is destined to become a modern classic-- a richly rewarding novel of women's friendship, of true love, and of what happens when we reach beyond our grasp for the great beyond.

"What happens to them--and to the men they love-- becomes an unforgettable drama of loyalty, justice, humanity, and passion. These heroic women refuse to be cowed by men or by convention. And though they face all kinds of dangers in a landscape that is at times breathtakingly beautiful, at others brutal, they're committed to their job: bringing books to people who have never had any, arming them with facts that will change their lives."

CALL FOR ART FOR SUMMER EXHIBIT AT GALERIE OV

The OV Arts Guild is excited to announce the resumption of its Galerie OV quarterly art exhibits in the lobby of the South Clubhouse.

The summer exhibit, beginning July 1 and closing at the end of September, will be the previously canceled show, themed "Water Water Everywhere."

The "water" can be in any form -- rain, ice, fog, snow -- use your imagination! All mediums will be accepted. Submission must be wired and ready to hang.

Artwork will be collected on June 30 at 10 a.m. in the SCB front card room. Artists can submit one or two pieces for this show. Please wear masks and observe whatever social distancing protocols are in place at the time. The Arts Guild is not planning an opening reception for this show.

If you need assistance or have questions, call Barbara Stewart at 203-612-1373.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

WEEKLY ROUND ROBINS ARE OPEN TO ALL RESIDENTS

The OV Tennis Club invites residents to participate in open round robin play on Thursdays from 5-6:30 p.m.

A sign-up sheet is located on the bulletin board at the courts. The weekly games run through October.

Questions? Call Eileen Cain at 203-836-4436.

TAI CHI CLASSES PLANNED

By Lucy Clifford

Tai Chi classes to be held this summer will focus on the heart and mind working together to create balance. The classes are geared to relieve stress, anxiety and frustration while promoting mindfulness.

Two separate classes will be offered weekly.

A class on Mondays at 5 p.m. is designed for participants of all fitness levels, beginners to experienced, and to students who would like a challenge. The sessions involve standing exercises utilizing different postures, movements and breath work.

These movements are the foundation of the traditional Chinese practices of qi-gong and tai chi.

There will be instruction for new students; more advanced students will have the opportunity to learn how to deepen their practices. All participants will be provided with the opportunity to learn and explore their own body strength, flexibility, balance and range of motion – as well as how to identify stress and recognize its impact on aging.

Thursday classes at 11:30 a.m. will be a combination of guided meditation, dao-yin and tai chi in a seated position. This class is designed for all fitness levels, including participants who have physical challenges standing. Students will explore the ability to calm their minds while focusing on their breath, posture and mindful movements. Regular practice of these exercises has been known to improve flexibility and the ability to stand and walk, as well as reduce arthritis.

The cost is $50 for each six-week session. Drop-in cost, per class, is $12 per person.

If you are interested in participating in tai chi, please call/text Lucy Clifford at 203-644-7710.

Reminder to Residents:
On-site activities are open to OV residents only until further notice.

MAINTENANCE MATTERS

CARPENTER BEES

By Michael F. Potter, Extension Entomologist
University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

During the spring, people often notice large, black bees hovering around the outside of their homes. These are likely to be carpenter bees, named for their habit of excavating holes in wood, in order to rear their young. Carpenter bees prefer unpainted, weathered wood, especially softer varieties such as redwood, cedar, cypress and pine. Painted or pressure-treated wood is much less susceptible to attack. Common carpenter bee nesting sites include eaves, rafters, fascia boards, siding, wooden shake roofs, decks and outdoor furniture.

Carpenter Bees vs. Bumblebees: Carpenter bees resemble bumblebees, but typically have a shiny, hairless abdomen. (Bumblebees usually have a hairy abdomen with black and yellow stripes.) The bees also have different nesting habits—bumblebees nest in an existing cavity often underground (e.g., in abandoned rodent burrows), whereas carpenter bees tunnel into wood to lay their eggs.

Biology and Habits: Carpenter bees do not live in colonies like honeybees or bumblebees. The adults overwinter individually, often in previously constructed brood tunnels. Those that survive the winter emerge and mate the following spring. Fertilized female carpenter bees then bore into wood, excavating a tunnel to lay their eggs. The entrance hole in the wood surface is perfectly round and about the diameter of your little finger. Coarse sawdust may be present below the opening, and tunneling sounds are sometimes heard within the wood. After boring in a short distance, the bee makes a right angle turn and continues to tunnel parallel to the wood surface. Inside the tunnel, about five or six cells are constructed for housing individual eggs. Working back to front, the bee provisions each cell with pollen (collected from spring-flowering plants) and a single egg, sealing each successive chamber with regurgitated wood pulp. Hatching and maturation occurs over several weeks, with the pollen serving as a food source for the developing larvae. Later in the summer, the new generation of adult bees emerge and forage on flowers, returning to wood in the fall for hibernation.

Nuisance and Damage: Though seldom as destructive as termites, carpenter bees can cause cosmetic and structural damage. Female carpenter bees excavate new tunnels in wood for egg laying, or enlarge and reuse old ones. Significant damage can occur when the same pieces of wood are infested year after year. Holes in the wood surface also facilitate moisture intrusion, rot and decay.

Carpenter bees are less inclined to sting than wasps and bees living in communal colonies. Still, their presence can be daunting, especially during spring mating and nest construction. Male carpenter bees can be especially intimidating, hovering in front of people who are around nesting sites. The males are harmless, however, since they lack the ability to sting. Female carpenter bees can inflict a painful sting but will seldom do so -- unless they are handled or bothered by people.

RESIDENT ESSAY

O SOLE MIO ~ O MI INSOMNEEA

By Elisabeth Breslav

After a medical event some years ago, I overheard my devoted children discuss with my doctor whether it was safe for Mom to continue to live all by herself.

While touched by their concern, I gently suggested I'd like to be part of the discussion and we were able to reach a happy compromise. I was going to stay in my unit in Oronoque Village. I would contract with a Medical Alert company and wear an alarm bracelet I could activate when feeling unwell. I would put OnStar on my car that would automatically provide assistance if the airbag inflated. And I would avail myself of our ARE YOU OK service, with resident volunteers calling to see if help was needed if I did not check in first between 9 and 10 a.m. during the week, or failed to answer the phone when volunteers called from their homes during the weekend.

The arrangements have worked beautifully for a long time. When I slipped on a patch of black ice in front of my unit a couple of winters ago and hit my head on the pavement, I would have turned into an icicle if the Medical Alert people had not swiftly sent an ambulance to get me to the hospital. My airbag has not blown up so far, but OnStar helped out with a dead battery on one occasion and with a flat tire on another. As for ARE YOU OK, that also has worked well -- until recently.

For no reason I can think of, I have been waking up at 2 a.m., unable to go back to sleep until at least 5 a.m. I have tried all the remedies, from counting sheep to thinking happy thoughts to reading. Nothing works, but just as I begin to feel I might as well get up and do the laundry or something else that does not require much thinking I zonk out and do not surface until 9 or even 10 a.m. During that time I am dead to the world -- including the telephone.

What's an insomniac supposed to do? I'm really not a mensch before mid-morning and I now try to make any appointments for the afternoon. This change in scheduling my days obviously does not affect Medical Alert or OnStar services. As for the dedicated ARE YOU OK volunteers, would it be unfair to ask them to please not to worry about me before 10 a.m.? That I promise to call the office during the week and, if you leave a message, return your call on weekends as soon as I've resurfaced?

My only other alternative would be to resign from the ARE YOU OK group completely, but then what would I tell the kids?

Editor's Note: For information on the Oronoque Village Call-In Program, please contact Kathy Lukens at 203-612-6685.

WANTED: VOLUNTEER MONITORS AND SUBSTITUTES

Volunteers help cover SCB Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This is a great way to help out while working with a wonderful team of resident volunteers.

There are substitute monitors for any time that you cannot make it in on your scheduled day.

Basic tasks include:

Greeting guest and visitors while in the reception office.

Taking a brief walk through the building to ensure that all is secure.

Monitoring camera displays of the building.

If you would like to help keep our community costs down by volunteering once a week or help out as a substitute monitor when needed, please contact Kathy Lukens at wklukens@comcast.net or 203 612-6685.

FEATURE: DINING IN

CREAMY OLD FASHIONED RICE PUDDING ... (A FAMILY FAVORITE AND NOT OVERLY SWEET)

Submitted by Judy Waldeyer

This is a family favorite; it is easy, but the success is in the details. The ratio of rice to milk may seem ridiculously high, but it will reduce and thicken, I promise! The rice pudding will continue to thicken as it cools. Thin out with more milk if desired.

Cook time: 25 minutes

Total Time: 30 minutes

Servings: 6 (3/4 cup each)

Ingredients:

5 1/2 cups whole milk, divided
1/3 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup uncooked white rice (don't rinse)
1 large egg
1/3 cup raisins
1/2 teaspoon unsalted butter

1/2 tsp. cinnamon

1 Tablespoon unsalted butter

1 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract

ground cinnamon for garnish

Directions

Combine 5 cups of the milk, sugar, and salt in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat, stirring frequently so the sugar doesn't scorch. (Watch carefully, as the liquid will rise quickly to the top of the pan.)

Once milk is boiling, add rice and reduce heat to low/medium low, adjusting to maintain a gentle simmer (it should still be bubbling).

Cook, stirring every 1-2 minutes while scraping base and sides of the pan, until mixture is thick and rice is tender, about 22-32 minutes.

Temper the egg: In a large measuring cup, whisk the egg in the remaining 1/2 cup of the milk. Slowly pour 1/2 cup of the rice mixture in the egg mixture, and return to the pan. Stir to combine.

Add in the raisins and cinnamon; cook for another 5 minutes or so, stirring constantly, until raisins plump and pudding is thickened.

Remove from heat, and stir in butter and vanilla. OV

ARTIST OF THE MONTH: BARBARA ROSNER

Artist of the Month Barbara Rosner will showcase a series of digital artworks during the month of June. The works will be on display in the front foyer of the North Clubhouse as well as in the newly added exhibit area in the back hallway near the library.

On June 1, the Artist of the Month exhibits resume at the North Clubhouse with the debut of the first-ever exhibit of digital artwork by Barbara Rosner.

What is digital artwork? "I create artwork on my iPad," Barbara explains. "I have an app, called ProCreate, in which I can draw on my iPad with my fingers or a stylus. This software allows me to paint a picture from my head or copy from a photo or an existing work of art. I can create all sorts of things, which I then save to my 'photos' and print them out."

Though her foray into digital art is relatively recent, Barbara has had a lifelong passion for the arts. "My mother was a fashion illustrator, and she inspired me," says Barbara. "She gave me colored pencils and paints to work with. She was my muse; while other kids were coloring, I was copying photos that were published in the New York Times!"

Her medium of choice, at first, was sketching in pencil but, in later years, she focused on working with charcoal. "I used to carry my sketchpad with me wherever I went," she notes.

Originally from Brooklyn, Barbara grew up in Long Island and enjoyed the art classes she took in school. Though she had visions of becoming a professional artist, she later decided to pursue her interests in medicine, earning a degree as physical therapist from Russell Sage College in Troy, N.Y.

"After working in several major hospitals in New York and New Jersey, I moved to Connecticut and took a position at Greenwich Hospital, eventually becoming administrative director of the Physical Medicine Department," she says.

She resided in Stamford where she also raised a family. Though she was busy with children and her career, she continued to sketch and draw to satisfy her creative needs.

She later moved to Derby and it was there that she was introduced to digital art. "I have a cousin who is an artist and he suggested that I use my iPad to do artwork and it turned into something that I really enjoy," she says.

Since moving to Oronoque Village three years ago with her husband, William, Barbara has been active with the OV Arts Guild, for which she has high praise. "We moved to Oronoque Village because we were impressed with its beauty but, as residents, we also are enjoying the diversity of the community," she says. "The Arts Guild has been a great influence on me and my work. The members, the classes and the exhibit opportunities inspire my work and have helped me to flourish creatively."

She notes that while digital artwork, may seem to be a new medium, the technique is growing in popularity and has been embraced by working artists. "David Hockney is just one artist who is working in this medium."

Don't miss Barbara's exhibit this month. Her works are hanging in the front foyer of NCB as well as in the newly added exhibit area located in back hallway near the library.

NOTICE FROM THE STRATFORD VETERANS MUSEUM

The Stratford Veterans Museum Committee has announced that donated or loaned items will be collected every Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon at 5952 Main S. at Boothe Memorial Park.

Veterans also are invited to register at Boothe Park on Saturday mornings. "By asking them to register, we get their service information, such as branch of service, time served and where," explains Stratford Councilman Bill O'Brien (9th District). "We also ask for a photo, preferably in uniform, for a 'Wall of Fame' that we are creating."

For additional information or to arrange a pickup of items, call Bob Mastroni at 203-362-5675 or email Bill O'Brien at billlob46@yahoo.com.

Weekenders Presents Jazz Vocalist Richard (Cookie) Thomas On June 26 at 6 p.m. at NCB

Cookie is a treasure who began his career in Philadelphia in 1960 when, at 14 years old, he opened for BB King. His voice is especially suited to well-known classic standards; he draws his inspiration from the likes of Nat King Cole, Frank Sinatra and Johnny Hartman.

He has performed in many clubs, casinos, jazz festivals and restaurants throughout the tri-state area.

To enjoy this sure-to-be fabulous evening, make your checks out to Weekenders for $22 per person and deposit them into the Weekenders box at the North Clubhouse before June 19.

If you have a table of friends that you prefer to sit with, please send all the names and checks in at the same time.

A variety of fully loaded individually wrapped grinders with salads, soda, dessert and coffee will be served.

Question? Call Carol Tepper at 203-375-2101.
